Grayling taxpayers due break on income taxes

by Staff Writer

Grayling city taxpayers will find something extra in their paychecks in 1998 — a break on their city income taxes.

In fact, most taxpayers will receive an extra bonus, too — a refund of taxes overpaid in 1997.

Last spring, Grayling City Council adopted amendments to the city income tax ordinances raising the personal exemption from $600 to $1,500, and made the change retroactive for the entire 1997 tax year.

...wage earners will have a little more money in their pockets each payday...

However, employers were not required to change withholding patterns for 1997 because the higher exemption came part way through a tax year, according to recently departed city tax administrator Verna M. Meharg.

One result of the changes is that city tax withheld by employers from the paychecks will be slightly less in 1998, meaning wage earners will have a little more money in their pocket each payday.

Meharg helped set up the refund and exemption change before her resignation as city treasurer, which took effect Dec. 5.

Employers were advised in a Nov. 18 letter from Meharg "to change your payroll data to reflect the above change for your first payroll in 1998."

Tax rates remain the same — one percent for Grayling city residents, and a half-percent for non-residents who are paid work in Grayling.

The city income tax went into effect in 1972 after voters approved it in an election. Proceeds are earmarked, and have been used for streets and sidewalks. The city income tax has produced about $300,000 a year, according to Meharg.

Although higher exemptions will lower the city's overall tax yield, Meharg and other city officials did not offer any figures. In the overall, she said, it "will not have much of an impact" on city revenues.

Total city budget is in the neighborhood of $2 million a year, she said, with city property taxes producing the largest portion, and state and federal aid most of the rest.

She said the thinking behind the higher income tax exemption is that the original purpose of the city income tax — building streets — has been pretty well accomplished.

Instead of eliminating the tax, the city still needs money for maintenance, she said.

In its Nov. 24 meeting, the council informally decided to continue its sidewalk expansion and fix-up program. The city has been spending about $250,000 a year on sidewalks, and next year's program is expected to be at about that level, City Manager Jerry W. Morford has said. He has estimated the sidewalk program may take three or four more years to complete.

Morford said income tax exemptions have risen on state and federal taxes in recent years, and the Grayling City Council decided to follow the trend.

"Six hundred dollars just didn't keep pace," he said.

Morford said students and others who only work part of the year will be the biggest beneficiaries of the higher exemptions. He said students who earn more than $600 a summer but less than $1,500 will not have to pay any city income tax at all.

Echoing Meharg's comment on the impact, Morford said "it's not a great deal" of money involved. He said a part-time worker who earned $900 a year, for example, will save the $3 he/she had been paying in Grayling city tax.

"This will drop low income people off the rolls," Morford said.

Administration of the tax will change in 1998, too.

The city will no longer mail quarterly tax deposit forms to employers, but rather will send a single packet containing tax deposit forms for all four quarters, along with the yearly reconciliation form, which is the same system the State of Michigan uses.

City revenues, spending both go down slightly

Grayling city revenues and city spending both went down slightly in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1997, according to the city audit report submitted to the Grayling City Council Monday, Dec. 8.

Total revenue for the 1996-97 fiscal year was $2,020,763, down about $55,000 from the previous year's $2,075,585.

Total spending was down, too, to $1,668,197 for the 1996-97, from the previous year's figure of $1,785,469.

Brian Olszewski of Hill, Schroderus and Co., of Petoskey, the accounting firm which performed the audit again this year, pointed out some of the reasons for the declines.

In income, for example, he indicated sewer rate revenues were down, a fire service contract expired, plus some one-time items such as a back hoe was sold the previous year, and two land contract payments were booked the previous year.

Spending was down, he said, in public safety (where a fire truck was refurbished the year before), and in public works, depending on when bills for sidewalk improvement work were paid.

Under auditor's comments,

Olszewski said the audit repeated warnings from previous years that the water and sewer fund was losing money.

"Sooner or later it will catch up with you," he said. "You should review your rates."

The water and sewer program is known as "an enterprise fund" and users should pay enough in fees to make it self-sufficient, City Manager Jerry W. Morford pointed out.

Mayor Ralph Stevens said that "water rates aren't that bad" but that "sewer rates are not making it."

The auditor presented detailed reports of city finances to council members, and said he would return for another session after they had digested the report if they wanted him to come back.

Oscoda County wins state grant for Garland project

The Michigan Job Commission has approved a $1.2 million economic development infrastructure grant to Oscoda County to assist with the expansion plans of the Garland Resort in Lewiston.

The grant, funded through the Michigan Renaissance Fund, will be used for the extension of water and sewer service, storm drainage, and pavement to serve a new development proposed by the resort.

Garland Resort is planning a completely new village adjacent to the facility. The "Village of Garland" will be the community center for the development. The core of the village will have approximately 38 retail stores, an amphitheater, and 54 residential units on the second and third floors of the retail buildings.

"We are pleased to be able to provide support to Oscoda County to assist with these site improvements for the Garland Resort expansion.

The undertaking will result in the creation of more job opportunities for residents of the area," said Doug Rothwell, director of the Michigan Jobs Commission.

The Garland Resort, in existence since 1951, is a year-round resort and presently has a hotel, restaurant, convention facilities, four 18-hole golf courses, cross-country ski trails, and other amenities. The resort development, which employs 380 people, is the largest employer in Oscoda and Montmorency Counties. The proposed project is expected to result in the creation of 190 new, full-time equivalent positions.

The Michigan Jobs Commission, which administers the Michigan Renaissance Fund, works in partnership with local communities and Michigan businesses to retain and expand job opportunities and improve Michigan's overall business climate.

City employees to get Christmas gifts once more

Despite questions from a new member, the Grayling City Council at its Dec. 8 meeting voted to continue with its practice of giving city employees and volunteer fireman a $15 gift certificate for Christmas.

New council member D.J. Brown questioned whether such gifts are legal.

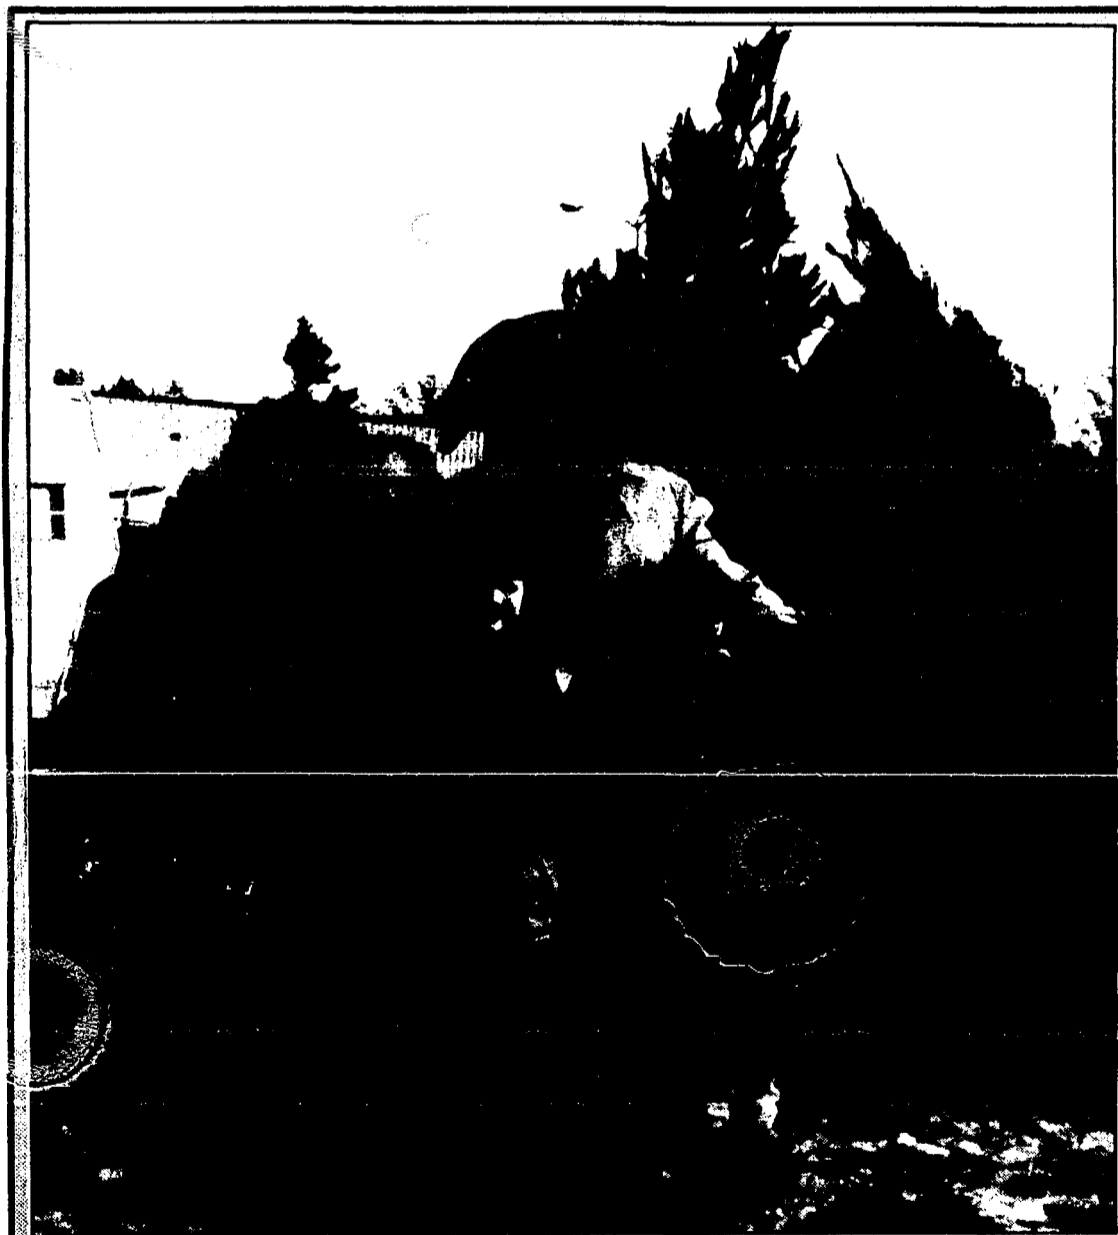

"Is it illegal to use tax money for gifts?" she asked.

Nobody seemed to have a definitive answer, but relied on the fact that the practice has been going on for many years.

The city used to give turkeys to employees, but then switched to a supermarket gift certificate good only for food items.

The council approved the gifts 4-1, with Brown voting "no."

Commented Mayor Ralph Stevens: "If it's illegal, sue us."

Deputies sell trees to help the needy

The Crawford County Sheriff Association sold Christmas trees last weekend to raise money to help needy families and children over the holidays.

Organized by Deputies Conrad Niederhouse and Randy Herman, the association's project sold more than 150 trees, which had been provided at reduced cost by Jeff and Deb Schlaack, formerly of Grayling.

Courthouse remodels for safety, efficiency

by Shirley D. Schmoock
Special Writer

The personal safety of Crawford County employees in their workplace has been a front-burner issue for quite some time now.

Consideration for privacy is one part of the puzzle, but guarding against potentially disorderly persons and others who interfere with county business factors even more heavily into the equation.

Changes in the entire layout of the building are being monitored and designed by Morris Cole, president of Michigan Officeways, Inc. — one of very few companies in the state to outfit business offices with safety issues in mind.

The plan, though still undergoing some minor changes, is designed to include glass partitions to close off the County Clerk and Treasurer's areas of the ground floor. Enclosures will be added for safety and privacy.

During the space of a single business day, numerous people come to the counter, ask questions about the court, the jail, their taxes, information on the various notices either posted or published, and the constant interruptions which are a deterrent to accomplishing even the simplest of tasks.

The District Court/Prosecuting Attorney's work areas will be secured against outside traffic and lobby furniture will be grouped in such a way that people filling out papers or those waiting for court to convene will find their own comfort levels being met.

The "panic alarm" system in the building will also be upgraded, and once the new telephone system is in place, inter-building calls will no longer require excess dialing and calling through voice mail units.

Time implementation for the completion of the work, once it's been approved by the Board of Commissioners, is approximately two weeks after the materials are received. The wall units are custom built and come complete with electrical boxes.

Installation is done by Michigan Officeways personnel. Walls and panels are not ready-made, but must be ordered to suit the space. The contractor, however, said that it could be accomplished by mid-January or early February, once the plan was approved.

Joe Wakeley, County Treasurer, fielded many questions about the plan at the Nov. 25 County Commission meeting. One was how many other companies were asked to bid on the overall redesign. Wakeley said there were only three names given to him, and one was not available and yet another had gone out of business. He'd had no luck with messages left, and after reading the county policy on such services, he found that competitive bidding was desirable but not at all mandatory, as long as public disclosure was handled properly.

It was also noted that Michigan Officeways had extended a courtesy discount to as much as 40 percent of the materials needed. Commissioner Annette Corlew and Under Sheriff Curt Wakefield, as members of the Safety Committee, have served many hours with Wakeley and the contractor on the safety plans for the building, and both said the plan — for the money — was the very best that anyone could hope for.

Commissioner Dennis Long, after lauding the plan, calling it very well thought out and long overdue, but still wanted to know how the county was going to deal with employees who did not follow the new rules once the plan was implemented. He was referencing the "balanced heating-cooling system" recently installed when Honeywell did the retrofit and upgrade of the system, and said the system was often over taxed and rendered ineffective when employees left doors propped open or used small heaters if they were cold.

"Each department head," said Wakefield, "has the right to progressively discipline any violators."

If someone leaves a security door open, close it then find out who's leaving it open."

Wakeley said that violation of security procedures was a policy issue. "The Right of Management clause in the union contract says that you to have the right to enforce the security measures. You've never given these rights away," he said.

Marvin Anderson, the County's auditor said, "You have people working with money and numbers all day, and they're actually sitting in a hallway. This system is inherently very wrong. The work stations need to be accessible, but with the world the way it is today, and it's the one we all live in, security is a serious issue here."

"When I first began my work here, I was working at the Treasurer's desk. After two hours, we had to move into the basement. I don't know how any of your employees get anything done from day to day."

"In county government, there's a lot of lateral movement. Somehow I got the impression that if a few people don't want to wear security badges, then it's a bad idea. But what if 80 percent of the people do think it's a good idea? Why not just do it? Cutting down on all the superfluous interruptions would make the employees a lot happier."

The entire cost of lobby and office security redesign was listed at $65,158.99. When asked how the county expected to pay for this plan, Wakeley said that he estimated the county's Fund Balance to be about $135,000 by year end. He recommended that a portion of this amount be used for capital improvements to the courthouse.

The safety plan, upon motion by Smock, was tabled for two weeks for review by the various department heads. The name tags to be worn by employees, however, were to be issued effective Dec. 1, 1997.

Other safety measures will be glass partitions, doors with buzzer systems, and the use of Visitor's Passes.

Crawford Christian Help Center starts 'Adopt-a-Family-for-Christmas' project

Gerry Schroeder is a little worried.

Mrs. Schroeder is the Coordinator for the Crawford County Community Christian Help Center and funds are running low.

Since its inception five years ago the Christian Help Center has helped hundreds of families in need. During the holidays the need is even greater.

Schroeder says she spends a lot of time applying for grants from many foundations and businesses to assist in funding the center. She also states that competition for grants has increased due to the cutbacks in government funding of some assistance programs.

There has been a change over the years in the clientele at the center. Most families and individuals in need are referred by the Family Independence Agency and local churches. But, more and more, the center is serving two-income families who earn minimum wage. "Just a trip to the dentist, a pair of broken glasses or a car repair bill can really set some families back," remarks Schroeder.

The Christian Help Center has a volunteer force of 20-25 workers at any given time. They keep very busy stocking shelves and packing bags full to the brim with groceries and personal items provided by generous donations from many civic and charitable organizations, as well as private donations. Mrs. Schroeder commented that she is very thankful that the Grayling community has always been very generous in the past and hopes the goodwill continues as the need becomes greater.

Besides helping to feed 40 or more families each month, the Christian Help Center is sponsoring "Coats for Kids", the S.H.A.R.E. food distribution/community service program and tickets for the Santa Claus Breakfast that was held just last Saturday, courtesy of the Grayling Promotional Association.

Also, for the first time ever, an "Adopt-a-Family-for-Christmas" program has been put into motion. The response was overwhelming. Almost 120 families have signed up to be adopted by kind-hearted individuals, families, organizations and businesses. Each family will receive their Christmas dinner if needed, and gifts for their children.

While it is too late to adopt a family for this Christmas season, there are things that can still be done to help. Those who wish to make a needy child's Christmas brighter may purchase and wrap toy and bring it to the Christian Help Center by 3 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 12. Please indicate on the tag if the gift is for a boy or girl and the age group for which it is appropriate. As always, cash donations are needed to fill the gaps that occur this time of the year.

The Crawford County Community Christian Help Center is located at 306 N. James St. (next to Rite Aid). The center is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Clarification

The article on Forest Dunes in the Dec. 4, 1997 issue of The Avalanche could have been somewhat misleading on two separate counts.

Pat Merrill, Crawford County environmental official, is working only on the extension of Four Mile Rd. The Four Mile Rd. extension is designed for the benefit of the county's residents. Merrill is not working to gain additional access for the developers of Forest Dunes.

Also, the jack pines are cut on a 50-year rotation. This insures the birds will always have suitable habitat.

The Avalanche regrets any inconvenience the original article may have caused on these points.

Open city treasurer position to be redefined, advertised

A couple of personnel questions arose at the Dec. 8 meeting of Grayling City Council.

With the position of city treasurer empty due to the resignation of Verna Meharg, what's happening at City Hall?

City Manager Jerry W. Morford said he will redefine the position, fashion a new job description, then put out some advertising for the job. He said he is working with the Michigan Municipal League (MML) on the details.

"In the meantime, the work will get done," he said.

He said "we have to shift back and forth," and other employees are sharing.

How about negotiations on the initial union contracts for the two departments — police and public works — who are now represented by the Teamsters?

Morford said the negotiations are continuing, with a MML negotiator working with the city.

"I don't look at this union thing as a bad thing," Morford said. "I look at it as a good thing."

He said he now he will have to deal with a single spokesperson for an entire department instead of with individual employees and handle what each one wants.

"It's not bad. It's not good. It's just different," Morford said.

In other city business brought up Dec. 9:

— Council member D. J. Brown suggested council meetings be taped, and the tapes saved for six months or so, in case there's any need to go back over what was actually said or done. No action was taken on her suggestion.

— A resolution was adopted honoring 10 years of service to the fire department by William F. Holborn.

— Received a letter from the Michigan Department of Transportation describing installation of new signs at city entrances honoring the Grayling High School band and its director, Dennis Ormsby, for winning state band honors.

Local dancers score well in DanceAmerica competition

Competition dancers from the Louise Tournaud School of Dance earned top awards and qualified for national finals during the DanceAmerica competition held Nov. 22 in Dearborn.

Mio's Gretchen Brown and Grayling's Jill St. Germain scored first and second, respectively, in overall points and were named "Dancers of the Year" in the regional competition. Brown performed in the senior solo lyrical category to "Never Is A Promise," while St. Germain competes in the intermediate solo lyrical division to "Ice."

St. Germain's performance also earned her the top award for emotional execution.

In a surprise announcement to the packed crowd at Edsel Ford High School Auditorium, Louise Tournaud was given the prestigious Director's Award for overall Excellence. Her instruction, choreography and overall excellence demonstrated through her students was noted during the special award's presentation.

Junior and intermediate company dancers competed during the morning session and won 11 awards out of 13 dances performed, including six first-place awards, four second-place honors and one third-place. The young dancers competed in divisions for jazz and lyrical solo, duo and group performance.

First place honors went to St. Germain and Venessa Nethers in jazz duo; Paige Conway and Chelsea Papendick in jazz duo; Ashley Longendyke in Lyrical solo; St. Germain and Longendyke in open duo; and Jill St. Germain, Gretchen Brown, Stacy Rider, Mandi Sinnaeve, Brandi McClain, Allison Schoen, Heather Lamoureux, Krista McDonald, Heather Freeman, and Vanessa Nethers in large group lyrical.

Hundreds of students competed in the all-day competition that featured 120 numbers from dance studios in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Canada. The Louise Tournaud School of Dance is the only studio in northern Michigan that participates in various competitions throughout the year.

"It's another measure of our performance beyond the annual recital," said Tournaud. "Competitions help our more experienced dancers constantly improve and reach peak performance. They also have the opportunity to learn from world-renowned dancers during the workshops associated with the event."

Tournaud's students plan to participate in the DanceAmerica National Finals in Orlando, Fla. in July 1998.

County Recycle Day team effort between students and government

by Dawn Workman

The Grayling Township Recycling Center will open its doors to Crawford County residents on Sunday, Dec. 14, noon until 6 p.m.

In keeping with the "We Can Make a Difference" program, Crawford County and Grayling Township officials voted to make Dec. 14 their day to make a positive impact on the community.

Students of the Grayling High School and Middle School will be working at the recycling center on Dec. 14, as well as running the compactor on the days that the compactor is open.

The trash compactor is for non-recyclable materials, and available for resident use on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Recycle Day was a team effort among Crawford County, Grayling Township, Crawford County 4-H, and Grayling High School and Middle School.

Crawford County Clerk Sandy Moore said, "We thought if we pulled together in some way," the people involved in this day could play a role in making a positive difference in the community.

The compactor will not be open on Sunday. Recyclables that will be accepted are paper, boxes, glass (clean and unbroken), plastics (clean with no ring or lid), tin cans, aluminum (clean and flattened) and yard wastes.

ALMANACK

by Richard Milliman

Senator Phil shrugs, then goes along

FORMER STATE Sen. Phil Arthurs knows a good thing when he comes across one. Case in point: his expense tab in his role as a state official.

Mr. Arthurs used to be a congressional staffer, then in 1978 struck out on his own in elective politics. At age 31, he won election to the Michigan State Senate from a four-county district on the shores of Lake Michigan around Muskegon.

Considered a bright young man in the Legislature, he rose fast and became Majority Floor Leader in the Senate. The 1990 census scrambled his district a bit, and he decided not to run again in 1994 after 16 years in the job.

A former senate colleague, Gov. John Engler, appointed Mr. Arthurs as chair of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

In that role, Mr. Arthurs oversaw the controversial Engler plan to strip the liquor commission of much of its state operations.

Once that was done, Mr. Arthurs stepped down as chair, but at last look remains a member of the liquor commission.

ON THE LIQUOR board, Mr.

Arthurs made a couple of strange decisions.

He has had a Lansing apartment for a number of years, and the Liquor Control Commission is headquartered in Lansing, where his job was.

But he chose to name his residence in Spring Lake as his "designated work station."

Under liquor commission personnel rules, employees can be reimbursed for meals, lodging and transportation while working away from their "designated work station."

In three years, according to The Lansing State Journal which uncovered the details, Mr. Arthurs claimed reimbursement for breakfast lunch and dinner each work day, plus about $6,000 in mileage. That added up to about $17,000.

And that was on top of his $74,000 annual state salary as chair.

The liquor commission is now reviewing its reimbursement policy.

ONE BAFFLING aspect of this plight is that Mr. Arthurs apparently sees nothing even questionable about playing the system this way.

He explained that when he took the job, he was told that's how they did things at the liquor commission. So he just shrugged and went with the flow.

But shouldn't there have been some question in his mind?

Wasn't there a tiny voice, somewhere in the far reaches of his conscience, which whispered: "Hey, Senator Phil. You've been around here quite a while. Isn't something not quite right about this deal? This is taxpayers money we're dealing with, you know. Sure, maybe everybody's doing it, but does that make it right? Is this honest? Is it fair? Don't you smell something?"

In the Senate, Mr. Arthurs had chaired the Senate Select Committee on Ethics.

His wail would have shattered ears if he had caught some bureaucrat claiming he worked in one place, while he actually worked in another — and then tried to be reimbursed for mileage and meals in an obviously phony setup.

IN ADDITION to his state job, Mr. Arthurs also hosts a radio talk show which originates in Lansing and recently added a Grand

Not everyone disappointed with road access denial

To the editor,

After reading the current issue of the Avalanche, I feel compelled to respond to the article entitled "U.S. Forest Service denies new road access to Forest Dunes development." To begin with, not everyone finds that denial "disappointing."

The area they wish to build across is designated Kirtland's warbler habitat. That the warbler population has increased in recent years is entirely due to the careful management of their habitat by the DNR and U.S. Forest Service. So, if they set that piece of land aside for such a purpose, it wasn't an arbitrary decision, they had a very good reason. And to those who think the warbler habitats take up too much of Crawford County's land, let me remind you that "those pesky birds" bring flocks of tourists and their wallets to Grayling every year from all over the world.

The debate over whether Forest Dunes should be given permission to extend Four Mile always seems to come back to a fear that somehow Grayling is going to lose out if it isn't. This, to me is a specious and erroneous argument. Those who say that Roscommon will get all the business from this development if the extension does not go through because everyone will get off the highway south of Grayling obviously haven't looked at a map lately. Last time I looked, Four Mile Rd.

lay south of Grayling.

What people seem to be forgetting is that more than half of the developments projected members will be from Chicago and western Michigan, and they come north up US-27. The fastest and easiest access to the property from that highway now lies through Grayling to M-72. If the Four Mile extension goes through, they will never have to go through Grayling. And let's not forget that once within the club's gates they'll have 2 restaurants to eat at, rooms and suites to stay in at the clubhouse, a convenience store and even a gas station on site. They aren't likely to drive all the way back into Grayling for what they'll already have right there. (And if they do choose to go out, Roscommon is 10 miles closer.)

So, to all those who feel disappointed by the Forest Services decision not to simply give away land held in public trust for the perpetuation of a species that brings plenty of tourists and their money to the area, to those who say they're concerned about Grayling losing out, I say let's make sure these people have to go through Grayling. Extending Four Mile, even if the developers weren't asking the Forest Service to sacrifice warbler habitat, will only make sure they miss it.

GUEST COLUMN

MUCC--60 years of successful conservation for Michigan

Six decades ago a small group, devoted to protecting Michigan's out-of-doors, formed a citizen organization called the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. Ninety-two conservationists representing 35 clubs from Monroe to De Tour held a historic meeting at the Shiawassee Conservation Association in Owosso and a united front for citizen conservation, MUCC, was born.

From this early vision of conservation unity, MUCC has grown to become the largest and most effective state conservation organization in the nation. Today MUCC's membership numbers 120,000 people and more than 470 affiliated clubs.

The vitality of MUCC has been the diversity of its member clubs, ranging from fly fishing and hunting to canoeing, hiking, and a broad range of outdoor recreation and environmental interests, all of which share a strong interest in the outdoors and deep commitment to clean water, clean air, thriving forests and abundant fish and wildlife populations for present and future generations.

The 470 organizations affiliated with MUCC are the foundation on which the association is built. Members form the volunteer citizen force that performs a variety of educational, recreational and environmental conservation projects each year. The range of activities conducted, independently and united, are as varied and far-reaching as the conservation needs of our local community or the state as a whole.

Each year on the local scene, area clubs adopt projects to create fish spawning structures, provide brush piles for wildlife shelters, plant food trees, and shrubs for habitat improvement and construct and/or erect nesting boxes for bluebirds, ducks, and other bird species. Clubs have created nesting islands for waterfowl and nesting platforms for eagles and osprey, planted native aquatic food plants for waterfowl and completed numerous erosion control projects to protect our public waters. Clubs have assisted in river clean ups, the construction of wall-eye rearing ponds, and the construction of trails (many for handicapped accessibility), and participated in the State's Adopt-A-Forest program. Last year over 100,000 meals were contributed for the needy through the Sportsmen Against Hunger program, and over 30,000 young people were trained through club-sponsored hunter safety programs. Clubs also sponsor kids fishing days each year and provide the TRACKS® conservation magazine to nearly 80,000 fourth through sixth grade classrooms each month.

On the statewide front, the affiliated clubs under the MUCC banner, have and are providing much to all of Michigan.

MUCC's Wildlife Encounters programs present an exciting face-to-face look at native wildlife in classrooms throughout the state. Some 2,500 schools have received this presentation since its inception. Also, MUCC summer Youth Camps provide outdoor experiences to over 1,000 youth each summer and teacher training seminars are conducted throughout the year.

It was an MUCC initiative which led to the creation of the Bottle Bill for Michigan, the establishment of the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund to support local and state recreation projects, the Harbor Development Fund, legislation to protect hunters and anglers from harassment, and the successful adoption of Proposal G, supporting scientific wildlife management just last year.

The clubs of MUCC have proven that united for conservation, individuals can make a difference in their community and state and improve the quality of life for us all.

The people of the state of Michigan are very fortunate to have a group of dedicated citizens that have diligently worked to improve and maintain the high quality of our natural resources. We have come a long way in conservation in the last 60 years, and look forward to serving conservation interests as we enter the next century.

Happy anniversary to MUCC and dedicated volunteer men and women who care about our natural resources. Michigan is a better place because of its united citizen conservationists.

Hunting blind gone; reward

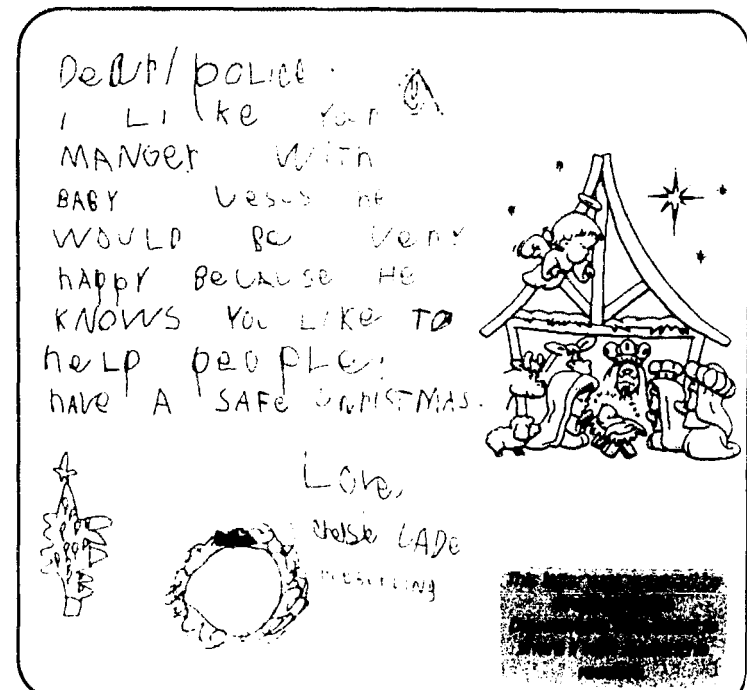

To the editor,

Sometime between Sunday evening, Nov. 23rd and the morning of Thursday the 27th, someone stole my hunting blind out on range 43 near Lonesome Lake. I have hunted in this area for the past 26 years and up to now have never had problems as I did this year with loud, drunken, unruly hunters.

I had $350 invested in my deer blind, time and thought in putting it together. It amazes me that some people can just reach out and take what is not theirs to take regardless of the consequences.

Crawford Health Department exceeds immunization goal

Crawford County Health Department has not only met but even exceeded the immunization goals set by the Michigan Department of Community Health.

In January of this year, health departments across the state were challenged to reach an immunization coverage level of 85 percent for children in the 19 through 35 months old age group, before Sept. 1997. If local health departments were unable to reach this goal, they risked funding cuts.

Health Department staff rose to the challenge. Immunization clinics were expanded and in some areas outreach workers checked immunization records, scheduled appointments and made reminder calls to busy parents. Strong Families/Safe Children assisted the effort by providing funds to enhance and expand the immunization services. Improving immunization coverage levels is one of the priority areas of the state-wide Strong Families/Safe Children campaign.

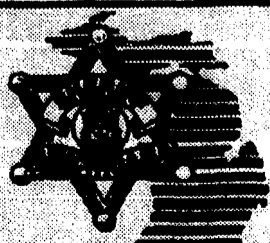

In addition to reminder calls and expanded clinics, every effort is made to make a child's visit to the Health Department a pleasant experience. Food coupons are donated by local restaurants, baby bibs are supplied by health oriented service clubs, stickers, treats, coloring books and packets of interesting information help ease any temporary discomfort.

As a result of all these factors, immunization coverage levels have steadily climbed. Crawford County is one of the counties leading the way in Northern Michigan. In October, Health Department officials reported an immunization rate of 89 percent for the 19 to 35 month old age group.

Marilyn Pratt, immunization coordinator, believes immunization rates for our young ones will continue to rise. According to Pratt, "The numbers of children fully immunized can be attributed to the overwhelming support of the community as well as the many dedicated parents who realize the importance of early immunization, and appreciate the convenience of appointment times that meet their needs."

NEW GMS TEACHER—Mary Nama, who joined the Middle School faculty in August to teach seventh grade social studies, reading and science, works with students in one of her classes.

New teacher at GMS

by Nancy Lemmen

Mary Nama — who joined the Grayling Middle School faculty this fall to teach social studies, reading and science on the seventh grade team — is the daughter of educators. Her father George taught social studies for 22 years and mother Carol taught physical education for 31 years for the Perry Public Schools.

Nama, who was the Christian Education Coordinator at Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church for five years, has also been a substitute teacher in the Crawford AuSable School District for the past five years. Prior to moving to Grayling, she substituted in Shiawassee County schools.

Nama earned a bachelor of arts degree in social science and health from Michigan State University. She is currently working on a master's degree in secondary reading improvement from Central Michigan University.

A five-year member of the Kiwanis Club, Nama also enjoys golfing, fishing and cross-country skiing with her husband, Toby Shambarger.

She said she applied for a position in the Crawford AuSable School District because "Grayling is a great place to live and work. Through substitute teaching, I started to get to know the staff and enjoy working with the middle school staff and students."

Correction

A story on sidewalk snow removal in the Dec. 4, 1997 issue of The Avalanche contained an error of fact.

James Briney, managing director for the Road Commission for Crawford County, said that the commission will furnish neither equipment nor labor to remove snow from any area where the Michigan Department of Transportation has jurisdiction.

The correct version, he said, is this: "The Road Commission has worked out an agreement with MDOT to allow a private contracting service to remove snow from sidewalks within MDOT jurisdiction for limited distances along the Business Loop in the City of Grayling."

The Avalanche regrets the error.

FOOT NOTES

Warning: Watch out for dry skin

Like sunburns in summer, dry skin is one of the natural hazards of wintertime. When it comes to the feet, however, dry skin can be more than an uncomfortable annoyance—it can be a serious health hazard. Without treatment, dry skin on the feet can become cracked and painful, and cracked feet can become infected feet. This can have life-threatening consequences, particularly for people with diabetes. Dry skin is also more of a problem for people as they age, when skin begins to lose its natural elasticity and moisture. In addition, there are several skin conditions, such as xerosis, eczema, and psoriasis, that can cause dry skin, often resulting in painful sores and difficulty walking.

Your feet aren't supposed to hurt nor are they supposed to hurt you. Dry skin, blisters, corns, calluses, bunions, hammertoes—there just isn't any reason to suffer with them any longer. GRAND TRAVERSE FOOT & ANKLE CENTER, P.C. treats patients of all ages for all kinds of podiatric problems, from minor to major to the prevention of both. The Bible Speaks Killing Christmas?

From the Calvary Baptist Church

Our nation was shocked by the recent violence against a group of teenage students gathered for informal prayer in the lobby of a western Kentucky high school. According to the principal, a 14 year old boy emptied an 11-shot clip into the group of about 35 students but afterward, calmly dropped the weapon and surrendered, saying he was sorry. But saying I am sorry and being forgiven by the other Christians in the group does not restore life to the 3 dead girls, or satisfy God's moral laws or the civil laws against such brutal murder.

Were the dead students wrong for expressing their faith in school instead of church? This mentality of condemning all public Christian testimony started with the 60's attack upon God, the Bible, prayer, and public religious expression. But church vandalism and burning prove the hatred is not limited to the place one practices religion. Jesus Christ and His followers remain the real target.

President Clinton wisely observed in a July 12, 1995 memo to the U.S. Secretary of Education:

"It appears that some school officials, teachers and parents have assumed that religious expression of any type is either inappropriate or forbidden altogether in public schools. As our courts have reaffirmed, however, nothing in the First Amendment converts our public schools into religion-free zones, or requires all religious expression to be left behind at the schoolhouse door."

Our State Representative Allen Lowe is to be commended for distributing the above quote by our president as well as other relevant material concerning the rights of religious expression in public schools. Lowe said, "Student religious expression is allowable in school settings to the extent that other types of expression are permissible. Students may read their Bibles and pray before meals or tests to the same extent they may engage in comparable non-disruptive activities. In informal settings such as hallways and cafeterias, students may pray together, read their Bibles, discuss religious issues, and even try to persuade their peers of their religious beliefs as they would their political views."

Besides student prayer and religious discussion, Lowe discusses graduation prayer and baccalaureates, official neutrality regarding religious activity, teaching about religion, student assignments, distribution of religious literature, religious excusals, released time, teaching values, student dress, the equal access act, worship, equal access to publicity, lunch time and recess, and what actions students may take to practice and protect their religious freedom in public schools. We pray this kind of information may help us avoid the senseless tragedy experienced in western Kentucky.

Our Lord Jesus Christ encourages Christian students facing conflicts: (Matthew 5:11-12) "Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. (12) Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you."

Please pray for the ministry of our church Websites at: <http://freeway.net/~cba/> and at <http://www.geocities.com/Hearthland/Ranch/1263/>

Roscommon Church assistance to hospice program honored

In honor of National Hospice Month in November, Hospice of Michigan took the opportunity to thank one of its generous supporters, The First Congregational Church in Roscommon.

Hospice of Michigan Volunteer Coordinator Cindy Witkowski presented a plaque to the church and the Board of Trustees thanking them for their help in promoting quality hospice care in the Roscommon Area.

Throughout the years, the church has assisted hospice by providing a place to hold volunteer meetings, support groups and most recently, hospice's Service to Remember for families who lost a loved one.

The church also leases office space to Hospice of Michigan's Roscommon team in two upstairs rooms of their office center located next to the church on 107 South Main Street.

In addition to leasing offices to Hospice of Michigan, the church has created space to allow two new groups to set up camp in the office center and provide more services to the community. The First Congregational Church's Christian Education Center and the new Zonta Clothes Closet, a program that helps women reentering the work force by providing resources and information, are now located in the office building.

Breakfast with Santa was huge success

by Shirley D. Schmoock

Special Writer
Grayling Promotional Association's Gail Swope, who was in charge of the dining room at St. Mary's this year said, "Breakfast with Santa this year was a tremendous success. We served 344, and 197 of them were children."

The food was all donated by area restaurants, and event chairman, Carolyn DiPonio, said "The breakfast is one of our biggest fund raisers. And the area merchant cooperation is just great. They give us whatever we need, and their generosity is wonderful." The Grayling Promotional Association sponsors the Milltown Parade every year, and "it costs several thousands of dollars," she said.

The local service clubs also participate; they purchase tickets and give them to the Christian Help Center to distribute any way they feel appropriate.

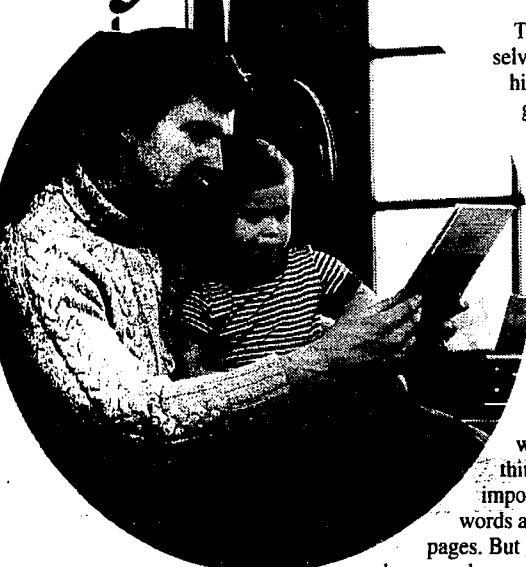

The ladies of St. Mary's also set up a special corner of the church where the children can purchase small gifts for their families. They're wrapped by the helpers and it too is a fund raising event for the church.

Mysteries

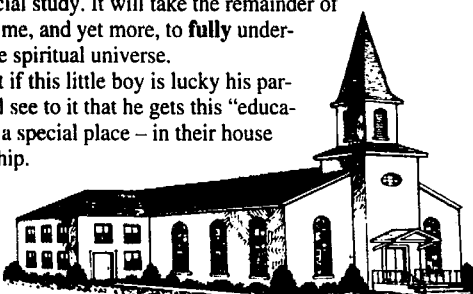

The words themselves are mysteries to him, black "squiggles" against the white page—but Daddy makes them sound very interesting. Later this boy will begin to read for himself and a vast new world will be opened.

In it, however, other mysteries will appear—other things that seem as impossible as the black words against the white pages. But gradually these will become clearer.

One of these mysteries is religion.

Understanding God's message and learning the meaning of faith—these vital subjects take a particular kind of education and special study. It will take the remainder of his lifetime, and yet more, to fully understand the spiritual universe.

But if this little boy is lucky his parents will see to it that he gets this "education" in a special place—in their house of worship.

Red Cross offers tips for holiday safety

The American Red Cross of Northern Lower Michigan urges families to use caution around the holidays when decorating with candles, cooking holiday meals and driving to and from holiday celebrations. Tips released by the Red Cross were developed to help prevent injuries and even fatalities during the holiday season.

One of the tips highlights how to avoid potential dangers associated with Christmas tree decorations. Cautions include purchasing laboratory tested Christmas lights; unplugging tree lights when leaving home or going to bed; and not adorning metal Christmas trees with lights.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, nearly 600 fires a year have been started by ignition of Christmas trees, causing an average of 33 deaths, 117 injuries and $23 million in direct property damage.

"One of the thrusts of the American Red Cross is to provide people with preparedness and injury prevention skills," said Pattie Simpson, executive director, American Red Cross of Northern Lower Michigan. "We are hoping the tips raise the awareness of how to prevent injuries so that people can enjoy the holiday season."

The Holiday Safety Tips are a compilation of information by the nonprofit National Fire Protection Association and the Red Cross Community First Aid manual.

•Beware of holiday lighting. Take care when burning candles. Be sure they are kept away from decorations or other combustible materials.

Don't leave children unattended in a room with lit candles, and always keep candles, as well as matches and lighters, out of the reach of children. Never display candles in windows or near exits.

•Test tree trimmings. When decorating with lights, be sure to purchase only those labeled by testing laboratories. Never use candles to decorate Christmas trees. For outside decorations, use only those lights labeled for outdoor use. Don't overload electrical outlets, and always unplug all lights before leaving home or going to bed. Never put electrical lights on a metal Christmas tree.

•Prepare for holiday parties. Decorate only with flame-retardant or non-combustible materials. Avoid using candles during parties. If guests will be smoking, provide them with deep ashtrays and check them frequently. After the party, check inside and under upholstery and in trash cans for cigarette butts that may be smoldering.

•Keep Christmas trees fresh. Choose a fresh Christmas tree and secure it in a sturdy stand. Place the tree away from heat sources and exits and water it daily. If you purchase an artificial tree, be sure it is labeled as fire-retardant. If you plan to hang stockings on your fireplace, do not use the fireplace for fires.

•Inspect fireplaces. Have your chimney inspected by a professional prior to the start of every heating season and cleaned if necessary. Creosote, a chemical substance that forms when wood burns, builds up in chimneys and can cause a chimney fire if not properly cleaned. Always protect your family and home by using a sturdy screen when burning fires. Remember to burn only wood, never burn paper or pine boughs, which can float out of a chimney and ignite a neighboring home. Never use flammable liquids in a fireplace. If you are purchasing a factory built fireplace, select one by a testing laboratory and have it installed according to local codes.

•Watch wood stoves. Be sure wood or coal stove bears the label of a recognized testing laboratory and meets local fire codes. Follow manufacturers' recommendations for proper use and maintenance. Chimney connections and chimney flues should be inspected at the beginning of each heating season and cleaned if necessary. Follow the same safety rules for wood stoves as you would for space heaters. Burn only wood, and be sure the wood stove is placed on an approved stove board to protect the floor from heat and hot coals. Be sure to check with your local fire department and local codes before having your wood stove installed.

•Be cautious with portable and space heaters. Place space heaters at least three feet away from anything combustible, including wallpaper, bedding, clothing, pets, and people. Never leave space heaters operating when you are not in the room or when you go to bed. Don't leave children or pets unattended with space heaters and be sure everyone knows that drying wet mittens or other clothing over space heaters is a fire danger.

Using a live Christmas tree? Here are rules to follow

If you're planning a guilt-free Christmas this year, intending to purchase a live (not cut) tree that will hail the holidays for years to come, you should be ready to:

- spend a fair amount of money, and
- prepare your tree's permanent home-to-be well ahead of time.

Advice on how to care for your tree after the holiday is as plentiful as the number of tree growers out there. The following method has been tried and proven successful.

Before the ground freezes, dig the hole in the location where it will grow best. Line the hole with plastic and fill with leaves. The soil that was removed must also be kept workable, so either store it in the garage or under some protective cover.

After Christmas, don't just plunk your tree outside in its new home—it must first become acclimated to the colder temperatures. When your tree is ready for the great outdoors, plant as usual and water in.

Don't forget that pine boughs will make great protective cover for roses through the winter.

Grizzlies play at home

Next home game for the Gaylord Grizzlies Junior A hockey team will be Sunday, Dec. 14, at 3 p.m., at the Otsego County Sportsplex in Gaylord against Team USA. The Grizzlies also will play Saturday evening at Yost Arena in Ann Arbor against the U.S. National Under 18 team.

Detailed information on live trees is available from the Crawford County MSU Extension Office.

Christmas special entertained capacity crowd

by Cheryl A. Ruley
Special Writer

A blanket of new-fallen snow was the perfect setting for last Thursday night's 5th Annual Christmas Special presented by the Crawford AuSable School District Community Education Program. The Christmas Special is the mainstay of the Cultural Events Program and, as in years past, the performers entertained a capacity crowd.

For the nearly 500 lucky people who attended the program at the Joseph Stripe Auditorium, the evening was an official ushering in of the Christmas season and one they won't soon forget.

The stage was set with grouping of lovely poinsettias, a glowing Christmas tree and strikingly realistic stained glass and fieldstone church wall designed by the Fine Arts Department of Grayling High School.

The North Oakland Brass Ensemble trumpeted "Deck the Halls", "Away in the Manger", "The First Noel" and other traditional Christmas songs as the crowd was welcomed by ushers Sara Kenney, Chris Kenney, Florian Stenschke and Tina Breituch, students at Grayling High School. The latter two are from Germany. What a treat it must have been for them to hear the opening number, "O Tannenbaum", sung by Karl Schmidt, in their native language. Schmidt is a member of the Michigan Opera Theatre Singers (MOT), a group that has performed each of the last five years in the Christmas special. Accompanying on the piano was Lawrence Picard.

Another member of the group, John L. Henkel, invited the crowd to join in singing the spiritual, "Mary Had a Baby", by Hal Johnson. The audience was quite accommodating until Henkel hit a note so low that laughter could be the only response.

The Wyandotte Academy Youth Choir and Ensemble (WAYC), decked out in colorfully sequined vests and bow ties, and led by director Kathleen M. Kane, filled the auditorium with a stirring, almost cherubic performance of "Do You Hear What I Hear?". This group of 24 very talented young people, ages 7-13 years-old, was one of 10 finalists out of 350 groups who auditioned for the Andrew Lloyd Webber production of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" at the Masonic Temple Theater in Detroit.

The WAYC Ensemble, accompanied by pianist David Wagner and local musician Karen Mirate on the keyboard synthesizer, was joined by Maria Cimarelli of MOT in an entertaining rendition of "Do Re Mi" from "The Sound of Music". Another MOT singer, Mark Vondrak, joined them all in a special tribute to the Grayling community with a gleeful and boisterous medley of "We Need a Little Snowfall", "Winter Wonderland" and "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas". The audience agreed with hearty applause.

Classical Bells amazed the crowd by chiming and ringing out several holiday favorites. This 12 member ensemble, brought together in 1983, has performed with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, including the 1994 Holiday Pops concerts. Their English handbells range in size and ring in six octaves, the choir chimes in five octaves. A music-box-like version of "I Wonder as I Wander" captivated the audience and "Savior of the Nations" was accented by the haunting oboe accompaniment of Carl Reyes. The tempo picked up when the ensemble rang out a "West Indies Carol" accompanied by local musician, Colin Hunter, on the bongos. The Classical bells ended their performance with a comical version of "Carolers' Hoedown", with members of the group dressed as mischievous elves engaged in all sorts of antics.

A passage from the Bible describing the angels telling the "good news" to the shepherds as they watched their flocks by night was read by John Henkel. It was followed by the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah", performed spiritedly by all groups combined.

Some emotions were stirred when MOT member, Barbara Wiltse, treated the audience to her heart-felt performance of "I'll Be Home for Christmas", a touching reminder to those in attendance who have served in the armed forces.

The program ended traditionally with the audience joining the performers singing "Let There Be Peace On Earth".

The Christmas special is made possible by the hard work of many individuals, but the responsibility for planning the event lies with Robert J. Hannan, Director of Community Education for the Crawford AuSable Schools. Hannan uses many sources when selecting the acts to be included in each year's Christmas Special. Sponsors are polled for their opinions and surveys are sent to patrons of the Cultural Events Program. Hannan takes advantage of sources such as the Michigan Council for the Arts for new ideas and new acts each year.

Hannan states that he is very grateful for the Michigan Opera Theatre's unending support and talent provided by MOT's Community Programs Department and that the Michigan Opera Theatre Singers are the "anchor" of the Christmas special. He is excited to be able to bring their talent, as well as the talent of the Classical Bells and the Wyandotte Academy Youth Choir and Ensemble to Grayling.

Comments from the audience are proof that Hannan has outdone himself this year. Delphine Nowaczyn and Darlene Jarvis, season ticket holders for the Cultural Events Program, said this year's Christmas Special was the "best one yet." They would like to see more of the community enjoy the programs in the series. Jarvis remarked, "It's a shame that so few people come out to support the performers who work so hard at their craft. Some events draw only 100 or fewer in attendance. Some people just don't know what they are missing." Nowaczyn loves the Cultural Events Program so much that she is now an usher for the series at Kirtland Community College.

The community can look forward to a 3-D program on Jan. 29, 1998 and a Spring performance of "Jack and the Beanstalk" in late April and early May, 1998.

Crawford Republicans change meeting times

Members of the Crawford County Republican Party have voted to change the night they meet to the third Monday of each month. The group had been meeting on the fourth Monday, but the meeting conflicts with the Grayling City Council meeting.

"People who attend the city council meetings have been excluded from participating in Republican meetings," said Lynnette Corlew, Crawford County Republican Chairwoman. "To present a strong and unified political organization, we can't afford to exclude anyone. We need their help and hopefully they need ours."

The monthly meetings are held at the county courthouse at 7:30 p.m. Because of the holidays the December meeting has been canceled. The next meeting will be held on Monday, January 19, 1998.

At the November meeting local republicans listened to Scott Dunn, candidate for the 105th district of the Michigan House of Representatives. Dunn, of Gaylord, is seeking the seat currently held by Allen Lowe of Grayling whose third term in office expires at the end of 1998. Because of term limitations Lowe can't seek a fourth term.

Dunn explained why he thinks his background in business, his experience in local politics, and his family orientation make him a good choice for Crawford County voters. He is the owner of Dunn's Office Machines of Gaylord and has served on the Gaylord City Council for the past six years. He is also a past chairman of the Otsego County Republican Party. Dunn is married and has a daughter, 11, and a son, 9.

Dunn will face off against five other candidates seeking office in Lansing in the August Primary Election. The primary winners in each party will face each other in the November general election to determine who goes to Lansing. The 105th District encompasses the counties of Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alcona, Oscoda, Crawford and Kalkaska.

Rehab, not punishment, featured in programs for violent juveniles

by Daniel Pesta
Capital News Service

LANSING—Michigan heads toward rehabilitation rather than punishment when dealing with violent juvenile offenders.

Carl Marlinga, Macomb County prosecutor, said that when dealing with violent juvenile offenders, the probability a juvenile can be rehabilitated must be considered.

"No matter the crime, there is a moral obligation to try and rehabilitate," Marlinga said. "The offenders are in a time of their life where there can still be significant change."

Recent legislation gives prosecutors more autonomy when dealing with violent offenders. The law now allows a prosecutor to determine whether to charge an offender as an adult or a juvenile.

"We now have the power to discriminate between sociopathic personality and a misguided person who can be rehabilitated," Marlinga said.

Michael Hodges, assistant prosecutor for Lapeer County, said there are many different options in dealing with the offenders.

"It is important to look at the history of the offender," Hodges said. "Looking at the background of a person will lead to a better assessment."

According to Hodges, the courts may deal with offenders with in a wide range, varying from informal probation to juvenile detention centers. "The most violent of offenders are tried as adults," Hodges said.

Marlinga said a problem results because there doesn't appear to be any thoughtful rehabilitation focus for juveniles or inmates within the Department of Corrections.

"The juvenile system is more rehabilitative-based," Marlinga said. "Both systems still need work."

Vincent Hoffman, professor of criminal justice at Michigan State University, said the main concern in dealing with the violent juveniles is safety of the public.

"Juveniles have a better chance of rehabilitation," Hoffman said. "Sometimes they are so violent that they need to be in a center away from the community."

According to Matt Davis, administrator for public information of the Michigan Department of Corrections, Special Alternative Incarceration is an alternative involving a military-like program that involves discipline and education. Although the camps are usually used for non-violent offenders, some exceptions are made.

"The state might make an exception for first-time offenders," Davis said.

According to Marlinga, juvenile offenses have increased steadily from 1,756 juvenile petitions in 1993 to 3,395 petitions in the first half of 1997.

"The state must give more focus to the rehabilitative side rather than the punishment side of juvenile delinquency," Marlinga said.

Win the 'cold' war with 'hot' travel

It's winter in Michigan, with weather so cold even your car may have trouble getting started in the morning. Who wouldn't want to spend a week or two away from winter's woes, where rates are low and temperatures are high?

There are plenty of "hot" travel spots to visit, at surprisingly affordable prices. AAA Michigan's Travel Service offers the following suggestions when shopping for a warm weather retreat:

Costa Rica. There is an abundance of vacation riches along Central America's "Rich Coast," which has rapidly become A Top travel destination for the late 90s. Costa Rica celebrates an immense diversity in climates and topographic features. In a single day, visitors can drive to the edge of an active volcano, hike along a lush mountain trail, explore the rain forest canopy via aerial tram, or toast in the afternoon sun from a deserted black, white or golden-sand beach.

The golf scene in Costa Rica continues to impress. Since July, when two new 18-hole courses opened, there are three championship courses. Joining Central America's premier course, the Melia Cariari near San Jose, is Rancho Las Colinas Golf and Country Club at Playa Grande in Guanacaste. Melia Conchal Golf Club is a Robert Trent Jones II course now open for play at the Melia Playa Conchal Beach and Golf Resort.

Acapulco. The original Mexican resort community, Acapulco is now drawing a new generation of sun seekers. Top hotels include Camino Real, Copacabana or Mayan Palace.

One property actually offers a $50 rebate if it rains for one hour or more between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Acapulco is the birthplace of such vacation institutions as the disco, parasailing, the swim-up pool bar, hotels shaped like pyramids and cliff diving. Many restaurants have outdoor dining, with breathtaking views of Acapulco Bay. Acapulco offers more than 300 hotels and boasts some of the world's swankiest resorts, along with dozens of more affordable beachfront hotels and motels.

Nassau/St. Lucia. Nassau, the new and improved capital of the Bahamas, is a delightful mix of British tradition and tropical splendor.

DONATION - Kirtland Community College donated this work station to the Crawford County Library, Librarian Tracey Compton tries out the station, while 5th grader Chelsea Green surfs the Internet.

Library receives work station

Crawford County Library is the recipient of a computer work station from the Kirtland Community College Foundation.

The work station offers Internet connection and word processing with first priority going to Kirtland students.

Telnet for e-mail is also available on the work station. Telnet allows students to connect to Kirtland or other domains and receive their e-mail and send e-mail.

Plus virus scan for personal discs is available on the new computer work station. Scanning for viruses allows you to enter your personal discs in the work station, scan them for viruses and then manipulate the data and print.

Virus scan is something new at the Crawford County Library and will allow you to update your resume on your discs and print. Students taking computer classes using "Works" will be able to continue with their assignments and save them to their discs.

Council supports liquor application

A liquor license for the Hospitality motel complex at 1232 I-75 Business Loop has won official city approval and now is in the hands of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Mr. Hospitality, a company owned by Mike Marks of Grand Rapids, is applying for one of 50 resort/hotel liquor licenses available through the state.

If finally approved and issued by the state, the Iron Gate Restaurant at the complex would be able to add full liquor service.

Marilyn Palmer, who operates the Iron Gate, said if the license is granted, the restaurant probably would start with offering beer and wine with dinner, and liquor service at private parties.

The Grayling City Council, at its Dec. 8 meeting, voted its support for the Hospitality bid by a 4-0 vote. Palmer, who also is a member of the city council, abstained from the vote.

Abuse of 'Date-Rape' drug may become a felony

by Vikas Bajaj
Capital News Service

When Sarah Klein went to her favorite Detroit bar in early October, she didn't expect to spend the next day vomiting and trying — without much success — to recall the night before.

"It's not like when you drink a whole lot and you can't remember much," said Klein, a Michigan State University senior. "I realized I only had one drink. Then the whole next day I threw up."

After one drink, Klein became groggy and fell unconscious.

"I bought one drink at the bar. I remember almost everything until I bought my drink. My friends walked me over to the couch and sat me down. Apparently I was unconscious for two hours."

What Klein, 21, went through is called being "roofied." Someone slipped a tablet of Rohypnol, a sedative banned in the United States, into her drink.

A blood test the next day showed traces of Rohypnol. But Klein, of Ypsilanti, was lucky compared to others who have been drugged.

There are no statistics on the number of women raped after being given the odorless, colorless drug that easily dissolves in liquids and is hard to trace. The drug induces a coma-like sleep. Victims wake up with amnesia, making it hard to press charges.

Most "date rape drug" cases have been reported in Florida, California and Texas. But an unknown number in Michigan have been victimized too. No cases have been reported in Ingham County.

Proposals before the Michigan Legislature would make it a felony to administer Rohypnol and other drugs with the intent to commit sex crimes.

The maximum penalty would be 20 years in prison.

But since lawmakers first discussed the problem more than a year ago, new drugs, some of them not classified by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and easy to make at home, have emerged.

One is Gamma Hydroxy-Butyrate. GHB is produced naturally in the human body and acts as a sedative, pain killer and steroid.

Rep. Lyn Bankes (R-Redford Township) who sponsored the felony proposal, said her bill would help police press additional charges in the hard-to-investigate rape cases.

"A 16 year-old goes to a party and wakes up in a situation that would lead her to believe she may have been taken advantage of, but a condom was used so there is no semen," she said. "Police must proceed based upon the evidence around her in the room. We haven't had to deal with this kind of thing decades before."

Susan LeDuc, an assistant Ingham County prosecutor, said the bill's provisions are sound but may not have an impact.

"It certainly is good punishment," LeDuc said. "Will it stop people from trying to do this is an open question. My experience as a prosecution attorney is that people don't think ahead."

Phyllis Good, the drug unit supervisor at the State Police crime lab in East Lansing, said she favors the proposed stiffer penalties but believes the bill isn't comprehensive enough.

Good said it should apply to any assaults, not just to sex crimes. "The drugs can be used in a lot of ways."

GHB is becoming popular, especially in Detroit, where it's sold and given out at parties, Good said. "It certainly is here. GHB is very easy to make and in a sense it's harder to control."

Bankes' bill classifies GHB as a "Schedule Four" controlled substance along with Rohypnol. Both drugs are legally prescribed in Europe and other regions as sleeping aids.

The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration defines Schedule Four drugs as having a "low potential for abuse... accepted medical use in treatment in the United States," and addictive characteristics.

Klein, the MSU student who was drugged, said Rohypnol should be reclassified as a Schedule One drug such as heroin, marijuana and LSD. Drugs in this category have a high potential for abuse and no accepted medical use.

"There is no valid use for these drugs, in my opinion," Klein said. "There are more than a few sleeping aids available."

But Gail Safian, a spokesperson for Hoffmann-La Roche, the maker of Rohypnol, said the drug does not deserve a more restrictive classification.

"There have been numerous studies and testimony that show it is no more likely to be abused and misused than any drug in its class," she said. "The main argument is that it's the criminal that commits the act, not the product."

Safian said her company is working on engineering Rohypnol tablets to release a blue dye when dissolved in liquid.

But officials such as Good say it doesn't make sense to classify the drug in Schedule Four when the FDA doesn't allow it for medicinal uses in this country.

If the House passes Bankes' bill, the drug's classification may be altered in the Senate.

Sen. William Van Regenmorter (R-Hudsonville) said the Judiciary

Committee he chairs will reconsider the drug's classification. "If there is a legitimate use for the drug which cannot be duplicated by other drugs, then there may be an argument for making it available by prescription only. If not, it should be a Schedule One drug."

Meanwhile, the drugs remain hard to combat.

For officials and victims, the biggest problem is the stigma attached to rape. It is hard to gauge the impact and spread of these drugs because many incidents go unreported.

Grayling police officer given leave of absence

A two-week leave of absence was granted by Grayling City Council Dec. 8 for Police Officer Bob Butzin, who wants to go to Russia on a Christian mission. Chief Pete Stephan opposed granting the unpaid leave. Mayor Ralph Stevens said that when someone is "considered a good employee, and we have the chance to do him a favor, I have a hard time turning him down." Council member D. J. Brown said that a trip that far must be planned well in advance, and suggested Butzin should have planned ahead to use his vacation time for it.

The city has a policy on unpaid leaves of absence, City Manager Jerry W. Morford said, but so far no city employee has ever asked for one.

On Stevens' motion, the council voted 4-1 to grant the leave, with Brown opposed. The trip to Russia is scheduled in late January.

River House Shelter gives tour

by: Janice L. Cherup, Community Education/Volunteer Program Coordinator

It has been 10 years since River House Shelter and Domestic Crisis Services opened its doors in Grayling. Since 1997 is an anniversary year for River House, the staff and new director, Marilyn Madison, thought it would be nice to open up the shelter and offer a tour. So, on November 11th and 12th, River House opened its doors to area agencies in its first ever, "shelter tour."

Area agency representatives had the opportunity to meet with staff and talk with them concerning services provided by the program. It is important to remember that River House Shelter is not just "a shelter," but an agency that offers "Domestic Crisis Services," just as the name implies. "River House Shelter and Domestic Crisis Services." River House offers a variety of services that are both residential and non-residential. These services include: client support groups, legal/court services (which includes the Alternatives To Abuse Program/ATAP, a court ordered program for men who batter), community education, volunteer program, sexual assault services/rape response team, and a youth outreach program that is working in the area school systems.

These services, when combined with other county resources, attempt to bridge the "gaps" often associated with family displacement in order to ease the transition into independent living. This includes access to resources to find employment, transportation, day care, or any other issue that may keep an individual from re-entering the work place and becoming self-sufficient.

The agency representatives that attended the open house stated that they were "impressed" with the variety of services offered, and admitted to being curious about what the shelter actually looked like. It is hard to refer clients to a program if you cannot convey to them what it really looks like, or feels like inside of the agency itself. Now, providers will be in a better position from which to make referrals to River House, having had a first hand look at the shelter itself, and the variety of programs offered.

River House also accepts donations with which to assist our families with relocation, if relocation becomes a reality for them. Many times a family finds it necessary to move to another area or from their existing residence. Think about having to start over again from scratch! No stove, refrigerator, kitchen table or chairs, beds, linens, dishes, towels, clothing or toys for the kids. Moving, in and of itself, can be overwhelming, but imagine not having anything with which to set up a new residence! The items donated to River House help meet these needs. Please contact Debbie between the hours of 12:15 p.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday if you would like to donate items.

The holiday season also brings with it special problems for our families. Many of our families will be unable to have any kind of Christmas. If you are interested in the River House "Holiday Wish List" please call Michele, in the business office, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and request a copy.

River House Shelter and Domestic Crisis Services covers four counties of central lower Michigan with its services for families, women, and children. The River House crisis/support line, 517-348-8972 operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with collect calls accepted. A family or individual can call at any time to access services whether for residential or nonresidential needs. The business line, 517-348-3169 is in service from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

If you or someone you know is involved in an abusive relationship (verbal, emotional, mental, physical, or sexual), River House Shelter and Domestic Crisis Services is available with its services 24-hours a day, seven days a week. River House continues to serve the needs of families, women, and children in four counties: Crawford, Roscommon, Ogemaw, and Oscoda.

Margaret Mildred Douglas

Margaret Mildred Douglas passed away at Bortz Health Dec. 7, 1997.

A long-time Grayling teacher, Margaret was born in Grayling on Sep. 27, 1903, the daughter of local businessman, T.E. Douglas and Martha M. (Husted) Douglas.

In about 1913, the family moved to Lovells, Mich., where her father had a lumber mill and general store, along with a small hotel. In 1916, a large new addition was built, and became widely known as the North Branch Outing Club, a private fishing and hunting group. Later, this became known as the Douglas Hotel.

After graduating from West Branch High School, Margaret attended Olivet College, and graduated from Ypsilanti as a teacher. She later received her B.A. degree from Central Michigan University.

She taught one year at West Branch, thirty-seven years at Grayling, and then finished out her career teaching four years at St. Mary's of Gaylord; retiring in 1971.

During all of her teaching years, she also helped operate the Douglas Hotel.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her brother, T. Edgar Douglas, and her nephew, James C. Douglas.

Survivors are her nephew, Thomas E. Douglas and his wife, Geneva of Traverse City, their children: Sylvia and Thomas Zamoyski, Tomas and Karen Douglas, Stephen and Deborah Douglas, Yvonne and James Jipping, Jerome and Rose Douglas, and Mary and Sean Burns; grand nieces, Theresa and Brady Crawfis, also, 16 great-grand nieces and nephews—all of whom treasured her as a beloved member of the family.

RoseMary Bradstreet

RoseMary Bradstreet went home to meet the Lord on Sunday, December 7, 1997. She spent her final days on earth surrounded by her loved ones.

RoseMary was born in Frederic, Michigan, to Maurice and Ruby Alma, who still reside in the house where RoseMary was raised. One of seven children, she was pre-deceased by her brothers, Maurice LeRoy and Charles Otis, and survived by brother Alan of Hendersonville, North Carolina, brothers Michael and Rex of Frederic, Michigan, and sister, Alma Selena of Odessa, Texas.

RoseMary was a loving and faithful wife to Gayle Bradstreet for 42 years, traveling extensively with him during his tour in the U.S. Army, as well as in Germany and the Philippines, before settling in Mason, Michigan. Together, RoseMary and Gayle raised five children: Keith and Matthew of Lansing, Michigan; Anthony of Columbus, Ohio; Brenda Hulbert of Frederic, Michigan; and Valerie Lankard of Grand Rapids, Michigan. RoseMary was a doting Granny to 18 grandchildren, ranging in age from 18 years to 10 months, and a devoted aunt to many nieces and nephews.

RoseMary earned a BA degree in history, from Michigan State University, in 1979. She had a lifelong love of history and was recently involved in tracing her family genealogy through the Saginaw Chippewa tribe of Michigan.

For all who knew her, RoseMary will always stand as the epitome of beauty and grace. She was a steadfast friend and confidant who always took the time to listen to children and adults alike. Her home was a refuge to those who needed it and there was always room for one or more at her table. She commanded respect and gave it in equal measure, and was particularly beloved by her daughters-in-law.

RoseMary had an abiding love for the Lord and passed that on to her children and grandchildren. She often spoke of the way God had worked in her life through others, and of the many gifts with which she had been blessed. RoseMary herself was a blessed gift who, in her too-brief life, affected many others for the better. She will be sorely missed.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church of Frederic, Michigan, on Wednesday, December 10, at 1 p.m., with Pastor Robert Taylor and Rev. Dale Hammond officiating. Burial was at the Oakwood Cemetery in Frederic. The family received visitors at the Sorenson Funeral Home, Grayling, Michigan, on Tuesday, December 9, between 4 and 8 p.m.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Max and Jennie (Kimball) Zechinato; half-sister, Gertrude Miske; and half-brother, Kenneth Morris.

In Memory of Betty R. McClellan

A million times we have missed you

A million times we have cried
If love alone could have saved you

You never would have past
Things we feel most deeply
Are the hardest things to say
Our dearest one we have loved you

In a special way
We often sit and think of you
And think of how you died
To think we couldn't say good-bye

Before you closed your eyes
No one can know our loneliness
No one can see us weeping
All our tears from aching hearts
While others are sleeping
If we had one lifetime wish
A dream that could come true
We'd pray to GOD with all our hearts

For yesterday and you.

Sadly missed by Husband and Children

Families read together at involvement night

AuSable Primary and Grayling Elementary schools hosted their monthly Family Involvement Night on Nov. 20.

Theme for November was "Reading for Information."

Title I staff from the two buildings talked with parents about helping their children read non-fiction, and taught strategies to improve comprehension. Each family then chose a magazine or non-fiction book, and parents tried out their new skills.

Magazine subscriptions and a turkey were door prizes, and cider and donuts were served as a snack.

Next Family Involvement Night is Jan. 22, 1998, when the topic will be how to create an entry for the Science and Art Fair.

Toys for Tots

Remember the magic of Christmas morning? You found that special package, the one with your name on it under the tree. The brightly twinkling lights made it sparkle, appearing even more intriguing. You could hardly control the excitement bursting from within as you ripped through the paper and ribbons, to discover something special, something just for you.

Many children right here in Crawford County do not have the opportunity to experience these special moments. Gaily decorated trees, twinkling lights, and sparkling packages do not magically appear in every home.

This you however, can make a difference. You can help ensure each child receives a visit from Santa Claus through the Toys For Tots program, sponsored by the US Marine Corps.

The Toys For Tots program collects new toys from the generous people of our community, then provides for their distribution to area children. Although the host for this year's program is the Volunteer Services section of Family Independence Agency, you do not need to register with them for your children to be eligible to participate.

If you or your business would like to donate a toy or toys, please look for the Toys For Tots collection boxes at the following locations: Northland Area Federal Credit Union, 1-75 Business Loop, Grayling; Crawford County Sheriff Dept., located behind the courthouse; Beaver Creek Twp. Offices, 8994 S. Oak Rd. (corner of Seven Mile Rd. and S. Oak Rd. Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.); Frederic Twp. Offices, Kelly Ave, Frederic (Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-4 p.m.); and Frederic Twp. Library, 6872 Old-27, Frederic (Mon.-Tues. 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Wed.-Thurs. 1 p.m.-6 p.m.).

NEW BUSINESS — B.C. Pizza is now open for business on Michigan Ave., in downtown Grayling. Tony Short (third from left), is operator of the new pizza restaurant. He is shown standing between his parents, Helen and Paul Short, who have been helping to get the place going. At left is Jeff Rose of Northern Mechanical, who installed the big pizza oven. B.C. Pizza opened downtown

by Shirley D. Schmoock
Special Writer

Tony and Holly Short of Indian River have opened a B. C. Pizza franchise in downtown Grayling. The building was formerly Main Street Florals, but the interior has been completely revamped into a cozy, country pizza parlor.

The restaurant features pizzas, submarine sandwiches and salads. The homemade log furniture by Moduc of Indian River gives the restaurant a quaint small town flavor. Moduc features a cabin furniture line such as beds, tables and the kind of furniture found in numerous log homes in this area.

Jeff Rose of Northern Mechanical in Grayling installed the huge pizza oven.

Tony and wife, Holly, also own another restaurant in Indian River. He claims that B. C. Pizza is one of the fastest growing franchises in the area. They will be delivering all day and late into the night, and specialize in homemade dough and pizza sauce.

Short said applicant response for help has been excellent. Parents Paul and Helen Short were on hand to give him a hand, and the family has done nearly all of the interior remodeling of the store, including the plastering and painting.

Other area contractors for the store have been Charles Plumbing of Grayling, Schoen Construction and Sunrise Electrical of Gaylord.

AuSable primary studies food

Students at AuSable Primary School recently used a novel way to study various foods as part of their science curriculum.

They ate it.

Students in six classrooms of first graders and one classroom of first and second multi-agers got together for a taste-testing party.

Each of the food groups was represented, and the children were encouraged to try a variety of foods.

The food pyramid was reviewed, and a "Food Group Rap" was taught to the students.

Although the taste-testing students may not have agreed on which food was good and which food wasn't, they did agree that it was a great way to study food science.

Grayling Junior Miss 1998 pageant continues to evolve

by Shirley D. Schmoock
Special Writer

Replicating the 1929 Grayling Winter Sports Park and the attendant carnival activities would be to visit the Kerry-Hanson mills or take a toboggan ride. Neither can be done. The community has changed.

Continuing a tradition like the yearly selection of a Winter Carnival Queen and her court has necessarily been colored by many changes. But, select a queen we do, and it's done with gusto and a great deal of fun.

The 1998 American Business Women's Association scholarship program recalls nothing of the earlier pageants, except requiring excellence of character and intelligence from the contestants. That aspect of the requirements will hopefully never change. And, perhaps that's what selecting a queen — a local ambassador, actually — is really all about. The pageant will be held Feb. 7, 1998.

"Commitment and dedication" are two words commonly used by the pageants' director, Sandra Moore. When she refers to the Junior Miss contestants, she speaks of their "spirit and vitality."

These are another pair of words that come to mind watching the competitors work to become a team. They must perform in unison on special pageant routines. Together they labor and laugh in the basement of the Crawford County Courthouse, under the direction of fitness instructors, Cathy Hehir and Theresa Furst.

Many specific rules and guidelines must be followed, like having a minimum 2.5 grade average. Each young woman must also be a Crawford County high school junior. Two of the 13 contestants are being home schooled, but as high school juniors, they qualify for the program. Scholarship monies will be awarded in the amount of $1,750 to the winning young women.

Orientation for the pageant was held in early November of this year at the Iron Gate Restaurant in Grayling. The contestants met to review the rules and discuss the evaluation process by which the local queen will eventually be chosen.

Subdivisions of the total evaluation process of the future queen are: Panel Evaluation, Scholastic Achievement, Creative and Performing, Fitness, and Poise and Appearance. In the Panel Evaluation alone are requirements such as perception — the ability to think and reason. Personality — qualities of behavior as expressed by physical and mental activities, attitude — as demonstrated by self assurance, sincerity, spontaneity, attention and warmth.

The list goes on, of course. But the overall score, based upon numerous areas of interest, intellect, talent, and even writing skills and personal creativity, will be weighted and considered before choosing the local young lady who will reign as Grayling's Junior Miss for 1998. The Junior Miss will also be eligible for the Miss Michigan Pageant.

The schedule of activities each contestant will somehow manage to attend will be a bit of a stretch for any busy student this time of year. Some of them work, some are in extra curricular activities like cheerleading and band, while others have distance and family to mix into this very active equation.

But they'll all do it — One by one or three by three. At the Breakfast with Santa, sponsored by Grayling Women's Promotional Association on Dec. 6, at St. Mary's Church, the queen's contestants were scheduled in shifts to work the breakfast, and they juggled trays and did whatever needed doing.

"They were such great workers," said Gail Swope, dining room chair for this year's event at St. Mary's. "Especially those first three girls. They worked the hardest, because that's when most of the people came to eat. Things got a little crazy for awhile, but they certainly didn't need to be told twice to do something. They just pitched right in and did it. They really were great."

They've also helped serve Thanksgiving dinner at the American Legion and joined the Grayling Promotional Association singers during the Christmas Walk. Their hayride — more of a fun time than a work detail — is due to take place at Camp AuSable on Dec. 16.

These students also must continue with schoolwork, as well as make pageant meetings and workshops. The dance and fitness routines take stamina and lots of energy. But as they rehearse with Louise Tournaud at her dance studio, study their lines and position, and try to absorb the various beauty and poise tips from Ms. Moore and her coordinators, Jodi Potter and Christ Ostwald, their everyday life must go on.

But, as their motto has become — coming together is a beginning, keeping together is progress, and working together is success — their ultimate goal must be to achieve a high level of dignity and grace... win or lose.

Cast and crew ready to perform

by Dawn Workman
Special Writer

The cast and crew of the Grayling High School Senior Play, "You Can't Take it With You," is ready to go this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The play was scheduled to be performed on Nov. 20-22, but the faculty member assigned to drama duty resigned before the fall term began.

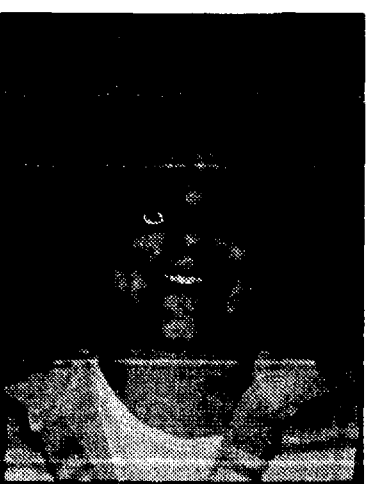

A new director was hired, Stacey Rosin-Gay. She is originally from the Grayling area. Her previous experience includes performances with the Young Americans theater company.

Two years ago she was the music director for the GHS musical, "A Knight in Rusty Armor." Last year she directed the Grayling Middle School production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

This year's production of "You Can't Take it With You" is a 1940s comedy written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman. It was originally performed on Broadway, produced by Sam Harris. It was also a movie starring Jimmy Stewart. His performance was part of what inspired Rosin-Gay to choose this play.

The story line follows an eccentric

family whose only mission in life is to be happy. Only one member of the family, Alice played by Crystal Pilon, works. She falls in love with the son of a Wall Street tycoon, Tony played by Colin Hunter. When it comes time for the two different families to meet, it is an unforgettable melding of two entirely different worlds.

Other lead roles include Grandpa, played by Jared Armstrong; Paul, played by Ryan Gaffke; Kolenkhov, played by Ben Mallory; and Penny played by Christina Kenney. "It's madcap, it's really funny," said director Rosin-Gay.

Costumes, as they have been for years now, have been provided by Marti Gosling and Bonnie French of the Grayling Arts Council.

Performances will take place on Dec. 12 and 13 at 7 p.m. in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium. Tickets will go on sale at the door at 6:30 p.m.

A special matinee will be performed on Dec. 14 at 2 p.m. Admission will be a donation of canned goods to be used in Christmas food baskets distributed by local churches.

About 35 students make up the cast and crew.

Two authors, canoers will sign book on history of AuSable race

The AuSable Marathon commemorative album "Experience The Tradition - The First Fifty Years of the AuSable River Canoe Marathon" has received rave reviews from many of those who have received their copy.

Authors Nancy Lemmen and Jon Thompson, with support from Marathon historian John B. Cook, have filled the book with interesting stories, pictures and race statistics.

The two Grayling authors plus Marathon competitors past and present are expected to be on hand for a book signing reception from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Dec. 13 at the Weyerhaeuser AuSable Marathon office in the Grayling Mini-Mall.

"There has always been a special connection between the Marathon and its fans," commented Marathon merchandise chair Phil Weiler. "We thought that local residents and fans would appreciate the opportunity to have the authors and Marathon paddlers inscribe this commemorative album."

Weiler indicated that the committee is also looking into the possibility of organizing another book signing at Spike's Keg O'Nails during Marathon week this coming summer. Publication of the limited edition 175 page album was underwritten in part by Spike's.

According to Marathon-committee album coordinator Marcia Koppa, well over half of the limited edition of the 175 page album have already been sold; 1,000 were printed.

"We are completing the distribution of books that were pre-ordered and new sales have been brisk since they arrived," she commented.

In addition to Saturday's book signing at the Marathon office, the book can be purchased for $40 at: The Icehouse, J Dap (J C Penney's), Cartwright & Danewell and Ray's Canoeing & The Fly Factory.

Proceeds from sales of the book help support staging and promotion of the Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon.

FIRST WINNERS — Allen Carr and Delbert Case each received $500 as winners of the first AuSable Canoe Marathon in 1947. History of the first 50 years of the canoe marathon is traced in the new book prepared by Jon Thompson and Nancy Lemmen, both of Grayling.

Viking girls future: Great expectations

Followers of Grayling High School girls basketball programs can only echo that famous sports fan's cry of 'just wait 'til next year.'

Viking fans will add...and the year after that ...and the year after that ...and then some.

Not only did Coach Chris Duncley's 1997 version of female Viking hoops wind up with a more-than-respectable 14-7 season record, it looks like things can only get better in the future.

Eight girls are due back from this year's squad, including three starters.

Then there's the JV team, which wound up 14-2 under Coach Tom Trudgeon.

There's more: The Freshman Vikings of Coach Jimmy Parker compiled a 16-2 record.

And down on the farm, the seventh and eighth grade teams wound up the year with a winning percentage of 85 percent.

Here's a rundown on this year's starting five:

Gone next season through graduation will be seniors Erin Mills and Amy Godlewski.

Mills was the team's top rebounder averaging 7 per game. She also added 5.1 average points per game, 1.3 steals and 1.0 assists.

Amy Godlewski

Godlewski racked up a 9.1 points per game scoring average, with 2.8 rebounds per game, 3.3 steals and 3.2 assists.

Juniors Mandy Trudgeon and Mary Dobry will be back next year.

Trudgeon topped all Vikings in assists by a large margin, averaging 10.2 per game. She also contributed 6.5 steals per game, 4.1 rebounds and 5.9 points per game.

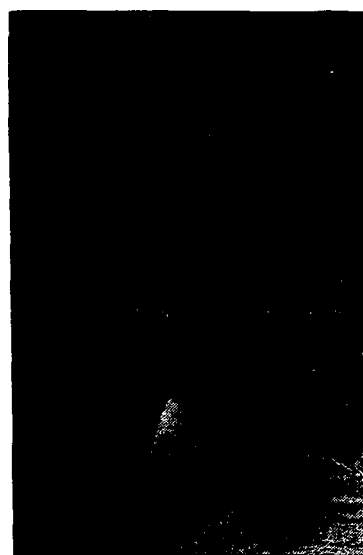

Mandy Trudgeon

Dobry was second leading scorer with 9.2 per game, and second leading rebounder with 6.3, and contributed 4.0 assists and 3.7 steals.

Mary Dobry

Freshman Brandi Ritter racked up impressive statistics. She led the team in scoring with 15.8 per game, and in steals with 6.6 per game. She snared 3.1 rebounds and made 4.0 assists per game.

The Grayling High School students involved in the Strength and Conditioning classes compete with themselves on a monthly basis to earn powerlifting shirts.

These shirts mean more than just what is printed on them; they are a tribute to dedication, hard work, and consistency within the Strength and Conditioning program.

To earn a powerlifting shirt, male students must lift 225, 250, 275, 300 or 375, and female students must lift 125, 135, 145, 155 or 175. Each shirt is fashioned with the maximum weight each individual student can lift, and the Grayling High School "Powerlifter" logo.

The shirts, which were designed by Strength and Conditioning teacher Rodney Patterson, were designed to encourage students to work hard, and when they did, to give recognition of what the students have accomplished.

Brad Wilson, one of the many students who received a shirt said, "My max went up 65 lbs. in three months, because I wanted to earn a higher shirt. Earning the shirt adds incentive to working, and the shirts help in all areas of life, from sports to self-esteem."

The Booster Club of Grayling is responsible for starting off the powerlifting program by providing the facility and equipment for the students.

BUSINESS

Representative of the State of Michigan Attorney General's Office, James E. Riley, and Lance Koschital, Regional Parks and Recreation Supervisor for MDNR, were present to discuss the Hall vs. Hanson litigation to maintain Northerly Boulevard (off N. Portage Ave., Sec. 15, T26N, R4W) as a public access to Lake Margrethe. Adjacent property owners, Hanson & Jerome, have petitioned for quiet title action to privatize.

Michigan Law states that the road end or access is under the Township's jurisdiction unless previous action has vacated the road. The Attorney General's Office recommends that Grayling Township intervene in the case if it desires to keep the road end public.

Motion by Ashton, supported by Medler, to affirm that Grayling Township does not intend to relinquish jurisdiction of any public road ends/access sites at Lake Margrethe nor has it vacated any portion of Northerly Boulevard and claims jurisdiction over the full width of the Northerly Boulevard as platted and hereby authorizes legal counsel to intervene in the litigation of Hall vs. Hanson regarding disposition of Northerly Boulevard on behalf of Grayling Township. Ayes, 5; Nays, 0; motion carried.

Motion by O'Mara, seconded and carried, to approve minutes of October 14, 1997. All ayes.

Treasurer's report for month of October was read and placed on file.

Correspondence: Crawford Co. E-911 Activity Report, 9-97.

Motion by Ashton, second by O'Mara, to amend the agenda to recess regular session and open public hearing for Juniper scheduled for 8 p.m. All ayes, motion carried.

Supervisor opened the PUBLIC HEARING regarding the necessity of creation of a Special Assessment District for Maintenance of Juniper Way, Sec. 9, T26N, R3W.

Supervisor explained that a petition, signed by majority of property owners with frontage on Juniper Way, had been filed with the Township Board on Oct. 14, 1997. The petition requests maintenance, gravel, grading and snowplowing, of said road through creation of a Special Assessment District which would spread the cost among benefiting property owners.

The purpose of this public hearing is to receive and review citizen comment regarding the necessity of creation of a Special Assessment District Maintenance of Juniper Way.

One bid on cost currently on file from Jack Millikin, Inc., for $7,500.00 per year for five years or estimated $312.00 per property owner per year.

Floor opened for comments:

Richard Steffen: In favor. Year around and seasonal residents should be assessed equally.

Barb Minor: In Favor. Year around and seasonal assessed equally.

Pat & Monnie Nephew: In favor.

Ernest Rasmussen: In favor. Road soft, needs clay.

Dan King: In favor of maintenance but some trees need to be removed so sun can help dry up road during wet weather.

Mike Hunter was designated liaison, by following property owners, to work out concerns with contractor.

Charles Easterly: Against project.

Joyce Easterly: In favor of snowplowing but not other improvements.

If Assessment District is created subsequent to another public hearing on Dec. 9, 1997, and spread on the 1997 Winter Tax Billing, property owners will receive a second bill for the Special Assessment.

Motion by Ashton, support by O'Mara, to close public hearing for Juniper Way and return to regular session. All ayes, motion carried.

Motion by Ashton, second by O'Mara, to resolve to create a Special Assessment for Maintenance of Juniper Way, Sec. 9, T26N, R3W, authorize Supervisor to draw the Special Assessment Roll and schedule a Public Hearing of said Special Assessment Roll for Dec. 9, 1997, beginning at 8 p.m. Ayes, 5; Nays, 0; motion carried.

FEATURES

ASTROSCOPES

For The Week Of December 7-13

ARIES March 21-April 20

Now is the time to be tactful and diplomatic. You may be challenged but hold your position and make sure to get your point across to those in authority. Take time to visualize what you really want and then make plans to get it. A friend or partner really wants to spend some quality time with you.

TAURUS April 21-May 21

Others may make a quick change of plans but being aware of the possibility makes you adaptable. You'll bend instead of breaking. You may be expecting too much from a loved one so make sure your expectations are in line with reality. Take time for a special treat.

GEMINI May 22-June 21

Don't be overly determined to have your own way. Compromise makes you feel better and gets better results. Friends and family seek your advice. Stick to the facts and work to keep your opinions in check. Low-key approach helps keep everything in perspective.

CANCER June 22-July 22

Creativity and domestic arrangements are in the spotlight. You're able to create opportunities for yourself and others. Analyze your options carefully. What appears the best now may cause problems in the future. Romance is in the air but you may have to make the first move.

LEO July 23-August 23

Now is the perfect time to take stock of your personal and professional interests. A series of events could force you to see things as they really are. You feel overwhelmed and underappreciated. Recognize this and realize that now is the time to be nice to yourself. Splurge a little.

VIRGO August 24-September 22

Take the direct approach to solving problems. Your energy level is high and you feel in control. Others look to you to take charge and show the way. Ask questions and really listen to the answers. You get support from an unexpected source. Be sure to spend time with friends and family.

LIBRA September 23-October 23

Don't let people take advantage of you. Speak up and demand what is rightfully yours. Keep your cool and try not to get too emotional. A decision needs to be made and you're the one to make it. The result may not please everyone but you'll feel better. Keep an eye on budgets and finances.

SCORPIO October 24-November 22

Your frustration increases as it seems others are working to keep you from achieving your goals. Step back and regroup. Trying to enlist others and see things from their perspective keeps things peaceful. Study the fine print before making a major purchase.

SAGITTARIUS November 23-December 21

Finances take on major importance. Be conservative and make sure you're getting value and quality. Now is a good time to focus on what is really important. Others want to help but are unsure how to approach you. Talk things over and be receptive.

CAPRICORN December 22-January 20

Work to keep your life in balance. Now may not be the time to make any major decisions or take radical action. This means caution is the key. Move slowly for the best results. A long-distance communication lifts your spirits. Friends and family rally to your side to lend encouragement.

AQUARIUS January 21-February 18

A change may be on the horizon. Get advice from people you respect before jumping into things. The future appears bright but remember that dark clouds could be there, too. Keeping your sense of humor helps you handle anything. Partner offers a small gift or luxury to help cheer you up.

PISCES February 19-March 20

Roadblocks force you to be flexible. Be willing to move in a new direction. Seeing a situation from another point of view gives you a more balanced picture of what's really happening. Take your time and make the right decision. Others are surprised by your insight.
